Fire Loss Estimated At $10,000 When Bigbee Home Burns Today

Fire at noon today completely destroyed the home of Mrs. W. D. Bigbee at 316 North Houston avenue with a loss estimated to be approximately $10,000. The home was partially covered by insurance.

The fire is thought to have originated from a flue while the noon day meal was being prepared.

The flames spread quickly to the roof where workmen were engaged in recovering the home. The alarm was given and although immediate help was available the home was soon enveloped in flames and had gained headway when the firemen under Chief Monta Thomas and Assistant Chief Joe Lindsey arrived.

The building is practically a total loss, the only saving effected being on household goods carried to the street by firemen and neighbors.

Poor water pressure prevented the firemen doing effective work when they reached the home. For a few minutes water in sufficient volume to fight the flames was not available. The firement attempted three lines of hose to fight the flames and to save adjoining homes but when this was seen to be impractical a line was discontinued. Fairly good pressure was obtained after the power plant had assisted the main by pumps and the truck engine was put to use.

The home of George S. Mangum adjoining the Bigbee home on the north was saved by heroic work of firemen who scaled the roof and fought back the flames. The home of W. M. Ross on the south was never threatened because of the wind which blew the flames to the Mangum home.

Meals were served at this home and it is estimated that approximately 30 people are without a boarding place as a result of the fire.

NEFF CALLS SOLONS FOR SECOND EXTRA

Austin, Aug. 17.—Governor Pat M. Neff this morning called the Thirty-seventh legislature to meet in second special session. The hour set for convening is 10 o'clock Aug. 17, ten hours after the legislature had adjourned sine die in the 1. session.

The governor in his call submitted but one subject, that being to provide funds for maintenance and support of state institutions. Failure of the legislature to agree on the appropriation bill for educational institutions necessitated the governor's call.

Although he submitted but this one subject, the governor included in his message any other subjects which later he might see fit to submit.

The proclamation calling the session was issued after the governor had conferred with Dr. Robert E. Vinson, president of the University of Texas, and Dr. W. B. Bizzell, president of Texas A. & M. College, and Assistant Attorney General W. A. Keeling.

With four exceptions, every members of the House spent a great part of yesterday in preparing to depart this morning. Books, records were prepared for mailing and railroad offices were flooded with reservation requests.

A resolution authorizing the chief clerk and the sergeant at arms to remain over several days and clean up odds and ends had been adopted. Postoffice keys had been returned, as were desk keys.

Then when the vote was taken at 11:30 last night in the House, a sudden stillness prevailed. It lasted for only a minute, however, and opponents of the conference report began cheering.

After the legislature had adjourned, Governor Neff talked to legislators and newspapermen in his office. It was apparent that the chief executive was not pleased with the situation and dreaded calling another session. However, upon being pressed he told those present that they had better not go home, as they soon would have to come back.

Both Houses Meet.

Speaker Thomas called the House to order and Lieutenant Governor Davidson rapped for order in the senate.

A roll call showed that there were only eighty-five members present in the house, and by unanimous consent the house stood at ease until 11 o'clock, waiting for more members to arrive. The House quorum is ninety-five members.

A quorum was announced present in the Senate after a roll call and the Senate proceeded to organize.

Senator Dudley, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, announced that he would introduec the educational appropriation bill as originally prepared by the committee. This bill does not carry the salary reductions made by the House and the free conference committee.

The consensus of opinion among the legislators is that all business will be dipsosed of and the legislature ready to adjourn within two weeks.

Meeting at Minerva To Discuss the Construction of Pipe Lines From the Field

A meeting of all oil operators interested in the Minerva sector of the Cameron-Tracy oil field, has been called for Friday afternoon in the store of the Minerva Mercantile company at Minerva to discuss plans for the construction of a pipe line.

The meeting is called by Fritz Fox of the Thrall Refining company.

The purpose of this meeting is to make a contract for the production for one year. If the oil men will agree to this it is said that Mr. Fox will begin at once the construction of a two inch pipe line from the field to loading racks at Minerva.

Production estimated at 50 barrels a day is now available at Minerva, oil men declare. The Oklahoma-Bell Oil company of which Sam Hohenstein is manager, has two producers ready for the pipe line. The Texas Plains Syndicate has one producer ready. In addition there is three other immediate prospects, one well on the sand and two near the sand.

Report of this meeting will appea in the Herald next week by E. E. Sullivan, writer and publicity man who is serving the oil interests here. Mr. Sullivan is perhaps the best informed newspaper man in the south on oil and oil activities and is giving Cameron favorable advertising all over the United States.

CAMERON BASEBALL CLUB DISBANDED; AVERAGE IS 695

WINS THIRTY-TWO OF FORTY-SIX GAMES PLAYED—PLAN STRONGER CLUB.

With an average of 695, the Cameron baseball club closed the season with the game Sunday at Rosebud against Mart, winning from that team by a score of 8 to 0.

The club was disbanded Monday following a meeting of the managers called by William Rogers, head of the club. Failure to secure games and coupled with the lateness of the season caused the action to disband.

During its season the Camreon club compared with the best clubs of Texas and gave the fans all that is desired in the game.

The team played a total of 46 games winning 32 of them. This record is better by far than the average club this season. The Cameron club will be stronger and better next year.

Plans for the 1922 club were discussed at the meeting and the men who finished the season with the club were unanimous in their desire to be with the club next year.

When the season for baseball in Cameron closed with the game with Mart at Rosebud Sunday, August 14th the Bear Cats had played a total of forty six games of which they won thirty two and lost fourteen. This gives the Cats a season average of .695. The team ended their season with four of the original players, namely Whitlock, Peel, Hamilton and Boggess.

Since the team was reorganized they won ten out of eleven of the games played, having lost one game to Elgin. Plans for next year are being layed now and it is assured the team will start out next year with the same membership as constituted the team at the close of this season with the possible exception of two places in the line up. It is now planned to form an "Automobile League" next year with the following named towns: Cameron, Thorndale, Sharpe, Rogers, Rosebud and one other town yet to be named, thus forming a small league of six teams with a regular playing schedule of about two and a half months playing season.

Herewith is given the batting averages for the Cats:

Boggess .316, Matahews .160, Dillard .452, Partain .342, Henderson .292, Whitlock .294, Peel .335, McGowan .363, Haislip .176, Brewer .156, Schmidt .000, Hamilton .268, giving the Cats a naverage of .263 for the season.

REDISTRICTING BILL PASSES LEGISLATURE

BY SILLIMAN EVANS

Austin, Aug. 16.—The dead came to life this afternoon, during the final hours of the special session of the legislature, and the bill providing for senatorial redistricting was finally passed in the house and senate.

Friends of the bill had all but despaired of any hope for redistricting, following the long parliamentary and legislative battle that has been waged for the bill. The free conference committee between the house and the senate gfinally got together at noon today, and immediately at the start of the session the report was made, and despite a vigorous fight on it, led by Representative Eeagler of Palestine, the conference committee report was adopted. The senate soon thereafter adovted it.

Elections in 1924.

The bill includes the muchly norated Wood amendment. Under the terms of this amendment there will be no elections under the senatorial redistricting bill until in 1924. Every effort was made it was stated by Representative Hill, who made the floor fight on behalf of the bill, to get the senate to recede from its position with regard to this, but without avail.

MINERVA ENCOURAGES OPERATORS

(Rockdale Reporter.)

Phelan Moultrie, colored, a farmer living on one of the E. B. Phillips' places a few miles south of town on the Lexington road, blew his head off with a shotgun while lying in bed at his home last Friday night. The body was found Saturday morning by his father, and the dead man's hand still fiercely gripped the shotgun with which the bloody deed had been committed.

In or near the same bed were the two children of the dead man, both covered with their father's blood, and both very ill. A note was found which stated that Moultrie had given both his children poison and would shoot himself, and asking that he be buried between the two children. The children were aged about three years and eighteen months, respectively. They responded readily to medical treatment and it is the opinion of attending physicians that the poison was not administered as stated in the note.

The bloody deed was the culmination of trouble between Moultrie and his wife. The couple had ben separated for several months, and on Sunday previous to the tragedy Moultrie had shot at his wife with a gun, missing her. He had been arrested for this and was to have had a trial Monday of this week.

Neighbors say that Moultrie had ben heard to declare that he intended killing his wife, the two cihldren and himself, but they had not thought that he meant what he said.

BY E. E. SULLIVAN

The most interesting events in the past week's development of the Minerva field are showing of Sherrin and Elwell's number one, Leonard Issacs for a good producer and the bringing in of the Oklahoma Bell Oil company's number one, Ben McClellan. The Sherrin well is being washed and the tools rotated to the bottom of the hole to clean out, cave caused from the well standing for several days which has been shut down for repairs. The oil showing is coming up through about 130 feet of mud and water and looks as though it may be good for 15 to 25 barrels per day from 1040 to 1060 feet, several of the rotary operators even estimate that it will make even beter than this when cleaned out and stands for several days.

The Ben McClellan well of the Oklahoma Bell Oil company was drilled 18 inches into the pay sand at 586 1-2 feet and is estimated to be as good or better producer than the same companys number one, Robert Isaacs across cat trail creek. The well is standing with 20 feet of fluid in the hole. The depth at which the pay was found proves beyond a doubt that the trend of the production is to the southeast, the same as in the Corsicana field in Navarro county. The McClellan well brings the potential production of the field up to 50 barrels per day if it proves to be as good a producer as the Texas Plains Syndicate number one, Neihous, which is a 15 barrel well and is the third well drilled in the pay so far in the new field.

The Sherrin and Elwell number one, Leonard Issacs is the most interesting to the oil clan as this well being brought in for a good producer will extend the producing area of the Minerva field some two miles to the east and southeast and will open up considerable territory, which up to date has been semi-proven or partly wildcat. The location of this well is on what is known as the Minerva uplift or ridge extending in a southeasternly direction towards Sandy creek south of the town of Minerva. The out croppings in this part of the field are the same as in the Mexia field to the north and is thought by the rock hounds to be the same identical structure for deep oil. The green sand horizan, the barometer for the oil pay in the field is found to be thicker and deeper to the south and east of the San Gabriel and Little Rivers and the pay dirt is usually found or drilled into about 100 feet under the green sand in the different parts of the field.

The Pete Johnson et al, number one, Manly, about one mile north of Minerva and east of Oklahoma Bell Co company's number one, Robert Issa will probably be the next produc drilled in the field, the drillers a seting casing on top of the green sa at 565 feet, this well will also open considerable territory north and ea of Minerva and is being watched wi interest by all of the operators in t field as well as the property owners that vicinity.

Bell and Haines number one, R. Batte, the nearest well to the city Cameron, being only 2 1-2 miles ner the river is a very important locatio as this is in new territory and th bringing in of this well for a goo producer will mean that the field wi be located almost in Cameron's bac yard. The drilling is progressin rapidly at 400 feet in blue shale, whe a small gas showing is coming out the hole. This well was shut dow for a day on account of a broken tim ing gear on the engine, which wa promptly repaired. The log of th well is the same as the Shunk well t to date.

Fogel et al, number one, Moor fishing for tools. This well is locate in the proven dstrict and drilling wi be resumed as soon as fishing job completed.

J. Z. Hodge et al number one, Coop er, drilling at 100 feet. Number on Doss, south of the Bauer well spud ding in.

Kemp and Hefley number one Moody Jacobs, shut down waiting ord ers.

Moore C. Hess et al, number one Robert Issaacs, north half of a 20 acre tract one miles east of the Ne hou number one, is a location.

Sherrin and Ewell, number one, Mc Guire, location machinery will be mov ed on at once. This well will be drill ed with a Star. 28, which is enrout from the Kansas fields.

Contracts are being circulate among the oil men for the purchase o Minerva crude at the market for period of one year. If these contract are signed the immediate building o a two inch pipe line and loading rac will be let and the field will have a outlet and a ready market for the high gravity crude produced in the field A car load of 6 5-8 inch casing is in the yards at Minerva unloading fo Bell and Haines well on the Batte farm. A building boom has started in Minerva a new store is being complet ed for Fletchers Mercantile company

The operators are finding it very convenient for getting repairs for the machinery in the field at the up to date shop of the Cameron Machine Shop and Garage, and appreciate that this is quite an asset to the Minerva field.

THE AMERICAN' CREED.

I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people the people for the people—whose just powers are derived from the consent the governed—a democracy in a republic—a sovereign nation of many ereign states—a perfect union one and inseparable—established upon se principles of freedom, equality, justice and humanity for which Ameri- patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it—to support its stitution—to obey its laws—to respect its flag—and to defend it against enemies.

A PEACE-TIME DUTY.

eneral Pershing, speaking to the ional guard officers at Camp Edrds not long ago, declared the espread illiteracy among the young n of the country a "national disce." He expressed the hope that er again would we find our young n untrained in mind and body as the case at the outbreak of the ld war.

he selective draft law vindicated lf as a statistical measure as well a war measure. What we found out ut ourselves as a nation was an -opener to our public men. The centage of the mental and physiy unfit was astounding.

General Pershing advocates an anal survey in order to keep in touch h our situation in the future. He s this need upon the broad ground preparedness, and in this he is ubtles sright.

But what about the fitness of our ng men for the pursuits of peace? A raising of our standards of literacy and physicial condition is a most important economic need. Not only will increased production result, but there will be fewer losses from accidents and disease.

Our peace time situation makes the same demand upon us for increased diligence in physical and mental training as does the need for preparedness for war. The ultimate success of democracy will depend upon a trained and self-sufficient citizenry.

Our public school system should be our first love in America. This is an essential defensive measure.

Any physical training should be general. A few star athletes in the field with a group of hollow-chested weaklings on the bleachers will not be sufficient. Well-trained bodies for all should be the test of athletics in school and colleges, and with this aim made the objective higher physical standards for all the people will soon follow.

Homebrewing For Personal Use Is Allowed By House; Bill Goes To Conference

Washington, Aug. 1.—The House nt on record yesterday against any erference with home brewing and tilling for personal use.

By a rising vote of 96 to 54 it virally deprived prohibition agents all power to prevent manufacre of all alchoholic beverages in ivate dwellings unless proof can furnished that the liquor is beg manufactured for sale.

The victory of the cellar distilries and the kitchen breweries me when a substitute for the anley search and seizure amendent, approved by the Senate was lopted. As passed by the Senate, e Stanley amendment prohibited ith heavy penalties and searches seizures by prohibition agents ithout warrants.

The House substitute likewise rohibits the dry agents from earching any private home without warrants and then declares "no ch warrants shall issue unless here is reason to believe such wellings is used as a place in which quor is manufactured for sale or old."

Thus, the substitute first prohibits searching of homes without arrant and then declares that if ome breweries and distilleries are not making liquor for sale no search warrant can be obtained.

Several drys argued that the section as written would give complete protection to the home of liquormakers. Representative Fields of Kentucky sought to amend it so that a warrant to search a home "could be obtained if there was reason to believe that liquor was 'manufactured' or sold there."

For some reason unknown, Representative Volstead of Minnesota, leader of the radical drys, declined to support him. Many members vote just as Volstead votes on prohibition questions, and the amendment was lost 96 to 54. The House substitute with the protection given the home brewer was reported by Volstead. He did not vote either way on the Fields amendment.

Representative Kindred, New York, sought to make it necessary to have a search warrant before baggage and packages could be searched, but this was defeated 39 to 90.

Representative Cockran, New York, insisted that all persons should be exempt from personal search without warrants.

Following the vote on the substitute for the Stanley amendment, the entire bill was sent to conference.

RED CROSS HEALTH INFORMATION.

Typhoid Fever.

Four hundred thousand persons annually contract this disease and 30,000 deaths a year result. Yet it is, compared to many "catching" or contagious diseases, readily preventable. Typhoid fever prevails in nearly all parts of the United States, and thus the loss of life and economic waste from typhoid is many times more than the trouble of preventive measures.

Typhoid fever is caused by a germ that originates only in human refuse, and is taken into the mouth when contained in water, milk, etc. The germ under favorable conditions will multiply at enormous rates. often dividing itself into two germs every 45 minutes. It is but one-twelve-thousandth of an inch long, colorless and causes no disagreeable taste or odor. Thus milk and water that looks sweet and pure may be teeming with germs. These are carried, if sewerage and human refuse is not properly disposed of by washing rains or by surface drainage into water supplies, springs and wells used for drinking purposes, truck patches, orchards and yards where children play.

There are three ways to prevent typhoid. (1) By increasing individual resistance. (2) By protecting against contamination with human refuse all food and drink. (3) By disposing of sewerage in a sanitary manner.

Typhoid innoculation or vaccination with dead typhoid germs has proven very successful. The injections, three in number, are made by any physician, inexpensively, at ten day intervals, causing no appreciable inconvenience on the part of the person innoculated. According to results obtained in the United States army the innoculation gives protection for at least two years. While this is not absolute immunity against infection in a highly concentrated form experiments have shown that, upon equal exposure, innoculated persons are one-fourth as likely to contract the disease as those who have not been innoculated

This must not, however, be regarded as a substitute for sanitation.

Flies are a great source of typhoid infection and spread. Swat the fly. Get rid of it in the home and the community as much as possible.

Water for drinking should be obtained from known pure sources. If any doubt exists the water should be boiled or treated with chloride of lime. This may be done by keeping a tightly corked solution containing one teaspoonful of fresh chloride of lime to one quart of water. To two gallons of water for drinking one teasponful of this mixture should be added and allowed to stand 20 minutes before using.

All milk which is not known with reasonable certainty to be from uncontaminated sources should be pasturized by being heated to 145 degrees for 20 minutes and quickly cooled.

In rural communities each home without sewerage should be equipped with a sanitary privy. Unsanitation in this respect is a grave source of typhoid infection.

DOUBTFUL

By MARION E. LEIGHTON.

(©, 1921, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

On this bright April morning Jane recalled with a little tingle of recurrent happiness the thrill of joy with which she had received Don's proposal three months before.

Kind and politely attentive he still remained, but so indifferent sometimes to her little acts and words of affection that at times Jane doubted if he really loved her.

Billy Royal had been Don's closest rival, and she knew that Billy still cared. She liked Billy, too. It seemed that she had liked him more than ever last night, when he had appeared so strong and gay and good looking, as he led her through the fox trot while Don looked on with apparent indifference.

She felt certain had the circumstances been reversed she would have been furiously jealous of Don.

Billy joked with her, but under the mask of gayety she detected a yearning that touched her with compassion.

"If you or Don ever change your mind, Jane—you'll let me know?" he had asked, smilingly.

"The very next moment, Billy," she nodded, brightly.

Jane deliberated a long time, weighing the virtues of Don and Billy. The scales were balancing evenly until she remembered that Don had seemed moody of late and would hardly touch her hand at parting. Why, he hadn't kissed her good-night for a month. Was not that proof that he had ceased to care?

The scales tipped suddenly and Don went down.

He was going to call today, on his way home from the office. Well, let him, he'd find nobody home.

The next moment she had Billy on the phone and an hour later Billy's roadster drove out of Jane's yard with Jane, smiling and chatting confidentially into Billy's ear, beside him. She believed this new important step was going to bring her happiness.

But what of poor Don? The lunch hour found Jane and Billy at a little table in the Royal cafe, apparently unconscious of the watchful eyes of Don's stenographer, who noted for future conversational purposes the intimate attitude which branded them nearweds or newlyweds, as the chance observer chose to believe. Don's stenographer chose the former.

So it happened that when Don returned from lunch his stenographer toyed nervously with her pad and pencil a moment then ventured a remark about the merits of the Royal cafe.

Don agreed it was a nice place to eat.

"Oh—that reminds me"—casually—"I saw Miss Jane and Mr. Royal down there today. Probably an accident—their meeting there—but they seemed to be enjoying it."

"So?" he replied indifferently. "Well—why not? Billy's a good fellow—and so is Jane."

Piqued at her unsuccessful attempt to arouse his jealousy, the stenographer murmured under her breath:

"Ice! All ice!"

At three o'clock Don returned from a visit to the doctor's office and happiness radiated from every feature and every movement of his well-built person. The stenographer regarded him with open amazement—he seemed [illegible] dropped ten years from his life!

"Doctor just told me I'm sound as a dollar," he explained. "You can imagine what that means to me!"

"Um—didn't you know it?" she asked.

"Heavens—no! They told me two months ago that I had a bad lung!"

"Not—"

He nodded. "You can imagine how that made me feel—under the circumstances. I'm going now to see Miss Jane."

She stopped him at the door. "Here's a message that came while you were out," she explained.

He read it hastily, impatient at being delayed.

"Don—When you call this afternoon go right in and look on the living room table—there is a letter there addressed to you. Read it—then, if I'm not home, don't wait for me. JANE."

The curt tone of the note and the abrupt ending brought a distinct sense the note and, as he had feared, there of foreboding. He hastened to obey was no response to his ring.

He opened the door and walked into the familiar living room, where he had spent many quiet, happy hours. On the table lay the promised letter.

With fingers that trembled slightly he opened it and read:

"Dear Don: It seems lately that you have ceased to care. Billy cares more than ever, Don, and I have gone where love is strongest—with Billy. Try not to think too badly of me and forgive.

"YOUR ERRING JANE."

With a white face, from which the joy of a short time ago had all departed, Don sank into a chair. A groan burst from his tense lips as he buried his face in his hands.

A soft white arm slipped about his neck and he raised his head to look into the moist eyes of Jane.

"You do care!" she whispered softly.

For answer he crushed her to him and Jane could find no fault with the warmth of his kisses.

"Then it was only—" he choked with emotion.

"April fool, dear!" she replied.

CULLAN THOMAS IN RACE FOR SENATE

DALLAS MAN ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY FOR CULBERSON'S SEAT IN SENATE.

Dallas, Texas, Aug. 13.—Today Cullen F. Thomas made his first public announcement of his candidacy for the democratic nomination for United States senator.

Though he has made many speeches in the last few months at public gatherings in different sections of the state, they have all been entirely non-political.

His announcement, in the form of an open leter to the people of the state, is as follows:

TO THE MEN AND WOMEN OF TEXAS: When in the course of a man's life he offers for high office, the people have a right to know why. It is fitting therefore that he should seach his own heart and lay bare his inmost motives.

I am a candidate for the United States senate because of the good I hope to do. I think of a seat in the senate not as an easy chair; it is a workshop. I am not attracted by its emoluments;the gains are far greater in private pursuit. I have no illusions about public honors while living; these may please for a season, but never satisfy. I cannot expect to be long remembered when dead; one of the most gifted sons of Texas ever elected to the senate sleeps in an unmarked grave.

The only motive big enough in any man's life to justify the toil and outlay, the hardships and heart-aches, of seeking and holding public office is an abiding desire to serve one's generation.

I cannot claim the prestige of other honors as stepping stones. I am a candidate from the ranks. I trust this is no bar to preferment. For nearly twenty years, I have given unstintedly of time and energies to champion those men and causes that stood, as I believed, for progress and good government.

My participation in public affairs has not been for official reward. I have not been a place seeker. Oftimes urged to offer for office, I have been happy for others to wear the epaulets while I fought as a common soldier.

My part in politics has not been for personal gain. I have found much of skepticism and cynicism, within the state and out, as to the motives of men active in politics. My activities have meant financial loss. I have sacrificed personal affairs. From border to border I have borne my own expenses. Of course I never made a political speech for pay. Of course I never got a penny for any sort of campaign service. I have not made a business of politics. I have not made commerce of political acquaintance—neither as pardon broker, nor as stock promotor, nor as legislative lobbyist. With these standards set for myself in private life, if called to pubblic service, I shall have one client—that client my country.

Texas has suffered much from party schism and partisan rancor. I would stir no ashes of other years. It is better to bury than to burrow in the past. I accord to good men of every faith and faction the same patriotism I claim for myself. Brave men honor an open foeman more than the artful fence rider. The pussyfooter wins no battles in the march of progress. The problems of tomorrow summon the sons and daughters of Texas to their best.

I hope to help lift and keep the coming contest out of the mud. I clasp hands with all my competitors in generous rivalry in the discussion of great principles and policies of government. Whatever the fortunes of the campaign, at its close I want life for me to be richer in friendship and good will among men.

Again, I want to go to the senate not to peddle patronage; not to be a department factotum; not to promote some pet project, but to devote my riper years to those problems that mean so much for human advancement. The foundations of civilization have been shaken. The world is being remade. The republic is on trial. Old faiths are challenged. Strange voices are heard in the land. The jarring elements in our national life demand consecretation and courage—the courage that dares to be in the minority. How the times call for a new baptism of patriotism!

I want to go to the senate to give battle for the weak against the strong; for human need against organized greed; for the rights of men against arrogant privilege—not as a beggar for special favors for selfish interests, but as a voice for the hard pressed every-day men and women of Texas.

In due season I shall submit with candor and courage my views on every vital question now pending before the American people, and make a vigorous campaign from plains to gulf.

Having determined to become a candidate, I want to win. I am ready to fight to win. I invite to my support every man and woman in Texas who thinks me worthy to win. Should I win, I pledge to all the people single hearted fidelity to their service.

All of us are debtors to God and country. Looking backward I feel that I have done so little; looking forward, I want to do more. With me the sun of life has touched high noon. I want to do something worth while before the sunset.

MINISTER DISCUSSES HIS WIFE'S TROUBLES

Rev. A. H. Sykes, former pastor of the Watkins Park Presbyterian church Nashville, Tenn., says:

"After seeing what Tanlac has accomplished in my wife's case, I am convinced that it is a medicine of great power and extraordinary merit. I do not think I have ever seen anything give such prompt results. Mrs. Sykes had been in delicate health for ten months, suffering from stomach trouble and nervous breakdown.

"I frequently sought medical advice but Tanlac is the only thing that gave her any relief. After taking the medicine only a short time, she was able to sit up and help with the household duties. I think it is only a short time until her health will be fully restored."

"Tanlac is sold in Cameron by Ne Cameron Drug Co., in Rockdale by Baldridge Bros., in Milano by E. C Smith and in Burlington by the Nes Drug Store. adv

QUICK AMBULANCE SERVICE DAY OR NIGHT

BY MRS. W. A. GILLON

MR. AND MRS. B. P. MATOCHA ENTERTAIN.

Last Thursday night, Mr. and Mrs. Matocha complimented their nephew Mr. Lee Sens of Mexico, a well known Cameron boy, with a "42" party. It was a porch party and the porch and house throughout was beautifully decorated with ferns and large white baskets of pink queens wreath.

Six tables were arranged on the porch. Score cards were small white paper bags and when a game was made a piece of white or pink candy was dropped into the bag. "84" favors added zest to the game. They were candy dolls which were also put into the score bags.

Delicious punch was served as the guests arrived and during the games. A number of interesting games were played, after which Mrs. Matocha, assisted by Mrs. Julian Baskin and Miss Carter, served delicious pink and white cream and angel food cake, iced pink. Small white bags of candy were plate favors, while large bags tied with pink ribbon of the same were table favors and were cut for by the guests. All who attended pronounced it one of the cleverest and most enjoyable parties of the season.

Buy advertised goods. Only good goods, fairly priced, can stand the spotlight of publicity.

A merchant or manufacturer would not dare to advertise merchandise that is poor in quality, poor in make or that will not give reasonable wear. The penalty of such tactics is too heavy. No goods—and no business concern—can thrive under the weight of public condemnation.

A merchant places the whole reputation of his business at stake every time he advertises. Naturally enough, he is careful of what he says and when his statement is placed in the newspaper—where everyone in town may read—so that any untruth in it will be known to all of his employees and most of his friends—then you may be sure he is doubly careful.

When you buy advertised goods you get a bargain because they must be as advertised.

So it pays you to read advertisements. Advertising protects you. Read the advertisements in this paper and get the best of the bargain.

When you come home tired and perhaps out of sorts, there is nothing quite so refreshing and soothing as a steaming hot cup of

BY SILLIMAN EVANS

The free conference committee between the house and the senate gfinally got together at noon today, and immediately at the start of the session the report was made, and despite a vigorous fight on it, led by Representative Eeagler of Palestine, the conference committee report was adopted. The senate soon thereafter adovted it.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair.

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire dark hair and a youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK HURTS

Take a glass of Salts to flush Kidneys if Bladder bothers you—Drink lots of water.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.

NO PINK BOLL WORM IN MILAM COUNTY

Texas Agriculture Experiment Station
B. Youngblood, Director.
College Station, Texas, Aug. 6, 1921.
Mr. Geo. Banzhaf, County Agent,
Rockdale, Texas.
Dear Sir:

I am just in receipt of yours of August 4th, together with the specimen sent under separate cover. This is the ordinary boll worm, sometimes also called the corn ear worm and tomato fruit worm. There are three generations of this pest in this locality and the latter begins working in the cotton fields about the first of August. It seems particularly abundant this year and doubtless extended losses will occur in some sections. Unfortunately, some worms when nearly matured become slightly pinkish in color and are frequently mistaken for the pink boll worm. It, however, belongs to an entirely different family and is not nearly related to the latter pest. I take pleasure in enclosing herewith a manuscript discussing the insect, and giving suggestions for control.

Very truly yours,
H. J. REINHARD,
Entomologist.

Office of the
State Entomologist of Texas
College Station, Texas

One of the most destructive and widespread pests of cotton is the boll worm. This same worm is also known as the earworm of corn and the tomato fruit worm, because the early generations attack these crops. On cotton the worm confines its feeding almost exclusively on squares and partially developed bolls, although matured bolls are also frequently injured. The worm eats into the square or boll and feeds on the internal tissues leaving the external portion intact, which latter wilts and drops off the plant. The worms are voracious feeders and a single specimen is capable of destroying a large number of squares and bolls in the course of its development.

Life History.

Th eggs producing these worms are laid by a moth, which puts in its appearance in ealy spring. The moth is about 3-4 of an inch long, with a wing expance of about 1 1-2 inches and is extremely variable in color and markings. Some are dull olive green while others are yellowish or nearly white with almost no markings. In the most typical moths the wings are bordered with dark bands, the wing veins are black and the forewings are spotted with black.

There are three generations of moths, the third in our vicinity appears in August and is the one which attacks cotton. The eggs are laid mostly on the cotton leaves and the little caterpillars begin feeding on the surface before boring into the squares or boles. When the worms are full grown they burrow into the ground and pupate and pass through the winter in that stage.

Control.

Winter plowing will destroy many of the over-wintering pupae in the ground and shoul dpe practiced by all planters. Eearly planting of early fruiting varieties of cotton, with a liberal use of fertilizers, and frequent cultivation, so as to hasten the maturity of the crop, will result in a good crop being made before the worst injury by the boll worm occurs. These cultural measures insure the best crops even where there are no insects to be avoided, and as the early crop is less injured by almost all cotton insects, the planter should adjust his methods to secure earliness.

When the worms are present in the cotton fields the only means of combating them is by the application of a good arsenical poison. Past experiments have proved arsenate of lead applied as a dust ,to be the most effective. The only satisfactory method of applying the poison as a dust, is by the use of a machine especially designed for the purpose. There are various types that can be obtained on the market at the present time, for about $25 apiece. The poison should not be diluted with air slaked lime or any other material and it will require about 6 or 7 pounds to cover an acre, depending on the size of the cotton. Too much emphasis cannot be placed in the fact, that to secure the best results, it is necessary to begin as soon as the worms first appear, because the small worms are more easily reached on the leaves and the poison is more effective against them then those that are nearly matured.

Hot Water Each Morning Puts Roses in Your Cheeks

To look one's best and feel one's best is to enjoy an inside bath each morning to flush from the system the previous day's waste, sour fermentations and poisonous toxins before it is absorbed into the blood. Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of incombustible material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken each day leave in the alimentary organs a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not eliminated, form toxins and poisons which are then sucked into the blood through the very ducts which are intended to suck in only nourishment to sustain the body.

If you want to see the glow of healthy bloom in your cheeks, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, you are told to drink every morning upon arising, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless means of washing the waste material and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach.

Girls and women with sallow skins, liver spots, pimples or pallid complexion, also those who wake up with a coated tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, others who are bothered with headaches, bilious spells, acid stomach or constipation should begin this phosphated hot water drinking and are assured of very pronounced results in one or two weeks.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs very little at the drug store but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as soap and hot water cleanses, purifies and freshens the skin on the outside, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the inside organs. We must always consider that internal sanitation is vastly more important than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do.

Women who desire to enhance the beauty of their complexion should just try this for a week and notice results.

Will they accept this Challenge?

My dear Mr. Rachmaninoff:
Under a contract between yourself and Thomas A. Edison, Inc., dated the 24th of April, 1919, it is provided, in effect, that the royalties payable to you on various selections, which you have recorded for us, shall continue, only so long as you do not make phonographic recordings of such selections for anyone else.
I shall be very glad to give you permission to record these selections for others, without the loss of royalties under the aforesaid agreement. This will give you the opportunity to record your "Prelude in C Sharp Minor" and other important works, which you have already recorded for us.
Yours very truly,
Thos A Edison

Read this Letter

It is a reproduction of Mr. Edison's Letter to Rachmaninoff, the famous Russian composer-pianist.

Will any talking-machine company dare to let Rachmaninoff record his "Prelude in C Sharp Minor" and other famous compositions, which he has recorded for Edison? We fear that no talking-machine manufacturer will permit this deadly parallel. However, you do not have to wait. Rachmaninoff has recorded other selections for talking-machines. You can draw your own parallels.

Hear Rachmaninoff on the New Edison

Come to our store and hear Rachmaninoff exactly as he plays; then listen to him as he sounds on a talking-machine.

The New Edison is not a talking-machine. It is so much different from all talking-machines that Mr. Edison has offered $10,000 in prizes for phrases, which will best emphasize this difference. Ask for folder giving full particulars.

THORNDALE NEWS

BY FRED M. HERNDON

SNAPPY PROGRAM ARRAIGNED FOR TRADES DAY, AUG. 22. NEW FEATURES.

The entertainment committee of the Thorndale Commercial club has arranged many new and novel features for the next Fourth Monday Trades Day which will be held in Thorndale on Monday ,August 22nd. A Better Baby contest, displays of art, fancy work and home canning will be of especial interest to the ladies while the real old time broncho busting, steer riding and goat roping will appeal more to the men folks who are expected to be here in large numbers.

Thorndale's own 24 piece band will head the list of attractions for the day when they lead a parade of decorated automobiles through the main streets, the automobiles to be occupied by the sweetest and cunningiest babies of this section. Babies, all under four years of age. (The big babies are to have their inning later.)

After this parade the babies, with their mothers will be the guests of the Better Babies committee which is composed of Mesdames W. Wilson, Chas. A. Davis, G. W. Peebles, J. S. Gore, Jones Clement and Miss Emma Saller ,who will be assisted by Miss Stella Carter, county health nurse and Drs. Crockett and Terry.

The Better Babies contest will be held in the Smith Bunting building from 9:30 to 10:30 and babies will be judged in two classes by Drs. Crockett and Terry and by Miss Carter. Class A includes babies any age up to 2 years. Class B includes all babies from 2 to 4 years of age.

Prizes for the best babies in these two classes will be awarded cash prizes of $3 for first and $2 for second..

This is not a beauty contest for babies. No, No, the judging will be done on points of development and weight for age and other points that go toward making a healthy, sturdy youngster. This will be especially valuable to any mother, regardless of prizes or ribbons, as Miss Carter, a health nurse of considerable experience will be pleased to examine and advise with mothers whose babies are lacking in certain health-giving qualities, and there is no mother living who will not want to know HOW to give her baby the best of care toward inducing more robust health. In other words, this contest affords each child entered a free and thorough examination with expert advise, where needed on the proper care of infants.

The display of fancy work and art will be held in the same building from 9 until 4 and will be under the direction of Mrs. J. R. Pettitt and Miss Jewel York. Cash prizes have also been announced for the best and second best entries in this department.

The display of home-canned products will also be held at the same time and place as the art display with Mesdames L. I. Wilson and Ida Hennington in charge. Cash prizes are also announced for first and second best entries and this exhibit will no doubt prove a popular one.

Broncho busting, goat roping and steer riding by expert horseman from Milam, Williamson and Burnett counties. These events will be held at the base ball park from 2 to 4 o'clock. A new and substantial fence has been erected around the park making it safe for spectators and with accomodations for more persons than can be gathered on the main streets of the city. Everything here free, the same as in the city.

ROAD WORK PROGRESSING NOW

The heavy rains of the early summer were very disastrous to roads all over Milam county and with the limited road funds on hand many of the principal roads are still in bad condition. Commissioner Henry Moore has been doing some mighty good work in bridge building of late, replacing a number of the smaller bridges that were made unsafe by the high water, and placing others in good shape where they were only damaged.

While he has kept his force at work right along on the bridge work it was necessary to leave the roads until such time as he could get to them. Quite a bit of road work has lately been done on the San Gabriel road with one new bridge and others repaired. A new bridge has recently been built over Brushy Creek on the Rockdale road, and the workers are now putting a bridge across a small creek out near Sharp. After this work is completed the roads are to receive attention.

The Commercial Club in connection with private individuals have accomplished quite of bit of needed improvement on some of the roads leading into Thorndale.

H. B. Pinkerton has just completed some fine work on the Salty road which has placed this thoroughfare in better condition than for many moons past.

Shelby Phillips has also put in some fine work on the Conoley road that has been greatly appreciated.

Apparently Commissioner Abbott of Williamson county is not a believer in good roads or else he is laying off as the Thorndale-Thrall Taylor road has not been attended to in some time and needs working badly. However, it may be that the commissioner is merely taking his vacation, and we may be speaking hastily.

RAILWAY MAKING IMPROVEMENTS.

The bridge and building department of the I. & G. N. Ry., has been here the past week making extensive improvements in the facilities at the local station. An entirely new floor for the large cotton platform here is an improvement that will be highly appreciated by cotton shippers, and will facilitate the handling of large shipments. Other smaller improvements are contemplated here.

CHAMPS MAKE HUTTO QUIT IN FIVE INNINGS OF PLAY ON LOCAL FIELD.

It only required five innings of play in the game here Friday afternoon for Hutto to acknowledge she was outclassed by the Champs and asked to withdraw from the uneven contest. It was really 4 and a half innings of play as the Champs did not take their bat in the fith. The score stood 12 to 0 in Thorndale's favor when Hutto asked that the game be called. Hutto has had a strong team and the complete "ballboning" stunt on the field here Friday afternoon was a great surprise to the fans of this section. However, they would offer no alibi, which means they are good sports and know when they are beaten.

MILAM RETAINS ITS FLOTORIAL INTEREST AND REMAINS IN McLENNAN COUNTY SENATORIAL DISTRICT.

Changes have been made at Austin in both the Senatorial and Representative re-districting bills, so as to again place Milam county in the same district with McLennan, the other counties being Falls and Limestone.

The House bill, before engrossment, upon motion of Jno. E. Davis of Dallas county, was amended in order to give Milam county additional representation by including it in the sixty-fifth district with Burleson and Lee counties. Milam county also composes district No. 64 by itself.

This gives Milam county the same representation it now has, but takes it out of Bell county's flotorial district.

Thus, looking on with eager haste while the hours proceed to waste, I hear the youngster say, Of course, my boy, You'd like to reach that street that's pictured as a peach, the goal of many gent's, that just celebrated street is said to be a place most sweet, and soothing to each sense. But did you ever stop to thnk how you must toil and save your chink, ere you can there reside? The men who grace that avenue have worked and dug, and put thngs through, and shunned the habit snide. They reached that well known boulevard by application stern and hard, and staying on the job, and to be the little corner bank they went steady as a crank to store each surplus bob, you want to live on Easy street. Then you must be prepared to skeet like lightning on a jag. You can't get there within eight miles if you stand dreaming all the while or loiter like a vag.

(Rockdale Reporter.)

Phelan Moultrie, colored, a farmer living on one of the E. B. Phillips' places a few miles south of town on the Lexington road, blew his head off with a shotgun while lying in bed at his home last Friday night. The body was found Saturday morning by his father, and the dead man's hand still fiercely gripped the shotgun with which the bloody deed had been committed.

In or near the same bed were the two children of the dead man, both covered with their father's blood, and both very ill. A note was found which stated that Moultrie had given both his children poison and would shoot himself, and asking that he be buried between the two children. The children were aged about three years and eighteen months, respectively. They responded readily to medical treatment and it is the opinion of attending physicians that the poison was not administered as stated in the note.

The bloody deed was the culmination of trouble between Moultrie and his wife. The couple had ben separated for several months, and on Sunday previous to the tragedy Moultrie had shot at his wife with a gun, missing her. He had been arrested for this and was to have had a trial Monday of this week.

Neighbors say that Moultrie had ben heard to declare that he intended killing his wife, the two cihldren and himself, but they had not thought that he meant what he said.

RED CROSS HEALTH INFORMATION.

Typhoid Fever.

Four hundred thousand persons annually contract this disease and 30,000 deaths a year result. Yet it is, compared to many "catching" or contagious diseases, readily preventable. Typhoid fever prevails in nearly all parts of the United States, and thus the loss of life and economic waste from typhoid is many times more than the trouble of preventive measures.

Typhoid fever is caused by a germ that originates only in human refuse, and is taken into the mouth when contained in water, milk, etc. The germ under favorable conditions will multiply at enormous rates. often dividing itself into two germs every 45 minutes. It is but one-twelve-thousandth of an inch long, colorless and causes no disagreeable taste or odor. Thus milk and water that looks sweet and pure may be teeming with germs. These are carried, if sewerage and human refuse is not properly disposed of by washing rains or by surface drainage into water supplies, springs and wells used for drinking purposes, truck patches, orchards and yards where children play.

There are three ways to prevent typhoid. (1) By increasing individual resistance. (2) By protecting against contamination with human refuse all food and drink. (3) By disposing of sewerage in a sanitary manner.

Typhoid innoculation or vaccination with dead typhoid germs has proven very successful. The injections, three in number, are made by any physician, inexpensively, at ten day intervals, causing no appreciable inconvenience on the part of the person innoculated. According to results obtained in the United States army the innoculation gives protection for at least two years. While this is not absolute immunity against infection in a highly concentrated form experiments have shown that, upon equal exposure, innoculated persons are one-fourth as likely to contract the disease as those who have not been innoculated

This must not, however, be regarded as a substitute for sanitation.

Flies are a great source of typhoid infection and spread. Swat the fly. Get rid of it in the home and the community as much as possible.

Water for drinking should be obtained from known pure sources. If any doubt exists the water should be boiled or treated with chloride of lime. This may be done by keeping a tightly corked solution containing one teaspoonful of fresh chloride of lime to one quart of water. To two gallons of water for drinking one teasponful of this mixture should be added and allowed to stand 20 minutes before using.

All milk which is not known with reasonable certainty to be from uncontaminated sources should be pasturized by being heated to 145 degrees for 20 minutes and quickly cooled.

In rural communities each home without sewerage should be equipped with a sanitary privy. Unsanitation in this respect is a grave source of typhoid infection.

ELGIN STOP CAT'S WINNING STREAK

The breaks in luck was with the Elgin bunch Thursday when they defeated the Bear Cats four to one. In the first frame Elgin scored two earned runs which would have been enough to win their game. Cannon, second man up was hit by pitcher, sacrificed to second, went to third on squeeze which failed, but scored on a home run by Jamar. Two more was scored in the sixth, one of which was an earned run. The Cats scored once in the fourth. Whitlock, first up in that inning gets a hit, advances to third on a centerfield error and scored on a hit by Henderson. The Cats outhit their opponents by three hits but only in the fourth inning did they get as many as two hits. One hit was obtained in every other inning except the seventh when they failed to hit safely.

ELGIN GOES DOWN BEFORE MIGHTY CATS

The Bear Cats went after the Elgin bunch with a determination to avenge their defeat and did so by winning the second game Friday afternoon 2 to 1. Henderson starred with the stick, making a home run in the fourth with Dillard on second base, and these two scores were enough to win. Several times the Cats had men on second and third base but brilliant playing cut off any further scoring. The support accorded both pitchers was exceptionally good but Schmid tightened in the pinches and turned in the best pitched game so far seen this year. In the eighth inning Ponsford reached first base on a fielder's choice, took second on a wild pitch and went to third on a hit by Cannon. Peel fielded the ball and faked a throw to first and turned quickly and caught Ponsford off balance and tagged him before he could recover himself and get back to third, thus making the second put out of the inning and saved the game for the Cats, iasmuch as the second man up afterward singled. That putout on third proved to be one of the winning factors of the game and it is hoped by all the fans that the pride of Port Sullivan can be kept on the hot corner. Peel accepted every chance without the semblance of an error and outhit every otherCat, getting two hits in three times up.

CATS OVERWHLEM MART.

After making their many boasts as to sow they would humble the Cats the Mart team at Rosebud Sunday afternoon was defeated eight to nothing. Slim Haislip was on the mound for the Cats and only one time was he in anything like danger but superb pitching on his part with almost errorless fielding behind him turned the Mart Swatters back to their bench crushed and defeated. In the first inning Haislip struck out the first three men to face him and this took the heart out of the Mart men. In the seven innings Slim struck out eleven of the Mart men. The hits were five for each team but the Cats took advantage of every opportunity and out-smarted their opponents. A remarkable thing about the game was the fact that only five assists were made by the Cats two by Boggess and three by Dillard, none of the other Cats getting their chances. Mart did not care to play further than the seventh ining so the game was called at the end of the seventh.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

To the Officers and Members of Cameron Lodge No. 56, I. O. O. F.:

We, your committee appointed to draft resolutions of respect in memory of Mrs. John T. Arnold, the widow of our esteemed brother, submit herewith the following report:

It grieves us to report that death has again visited our community and this time summoned Mrs. John T. Arnold to depart from this life and go to that Celestial Home eternal in the Heavens, there to receive the reward of a well spent life in this world in ministering to the wants of the afflicted, in shedding light into darkened souls, and in bringing joy into places of misery.

So let her sleep that dreamless sleep,
Our sorrows clustering 'round her head;
Be comforted, ye loved who weep,
She lives with God, she is not dead.

We recommend that a copy of these resolutions be furnished the bereaved family, a copy furnished the paper for publication and a copy spread upon the minutes of this Lodge.

Respectfully submitted,
E. L. TUCKER,
RAYMOND L. POSEY,

From the makers of U.S. Royal Cords to the users of Fabric Tires

THE U.S. USCO TREAD

Here is the U. S. Usco Tread, with a long-established standard of service among motorists who have an eye to value, as well as to price. While selling for less than the other tires in the U. S. Fabric line, the Usco has earned a reputation for quality and dependable economy which is not exceeded by any tire in its class.

"Giving to the fabric tire user fresh, live tires. Being made now. Being shipped now."

IN all of modern merchandising the biggest conundrum is the fabric tire situation.

Around 70% of all car owners use fabric tires.

Their instinct for quality is as strong and insistent as any one else's.

Why, then, are they offered such hodge-podge stocks of "discount tires," "odd lots," "seconds," "retreads" and other so-called bargains of uncertain origin?

Sooner or later the public always seeks out quality. As a matter of self-protection—if for no other reason. The out-and-out opinion in favor of U. S. Fabric Tires has spread more this year than it ever did.

People have gotten very close to the U. S. policy. Felt it. Benefited by it. And passed the word along.

It's a policy settled to one standard for all U. S. Tires. Whether fabrics or cords. Small sizes or large.

Giving to the fabric tire user fresh, live tires. Being made now. Being shipped now.

All the original U. S. vitality and service comes through when you buy a U. S. Fabric Tire.

"Usco," "Chain," "Nobby." Three different treads.

Built by the same brains, the same quality ideals that have made U. S. Royal Cords the standard measure of tire worth.

THE DAY MOON

By ALICE P. PHINNEY.

(©, 1920, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Clad in cool white she sat on a green hill among the daisies and dreamily watched the pale day moon. An artist's portable camp stool and an easel stood beside her and in her hands was a palette, much daubed with green and yellow. The bees droned and all was sleepy and warm.

Then a man's voice quietly chimed in with her mood—

"There's a superstition about that, you know—"

"Yes?" she questioned without moving, and then, startled, she turned to see a tanned, white flannel clad young man standing behind her, his keen blue eyes thoughtfully considering the day moon.

"Funny so few ever write about that or paint it," he was saying. "Now I could place it over hazy hills, between columns of marble—" his long fingers tightened on the brush they held, "but that superstition—" He turned to her and she greeted him with a smile. But it was quite different from that intimate questioning "yes." Oh, it was entirely polite, the smile was, but very cool, for the girl had come back from the white day moon to this queer old world where there are men who have been introduced, and there are others (oh, quite attractive others) who have not.

The artist laughed good humoredly. "I didn't come up to talk of moons," he said, "and I apologize for being so informal, but I'm painting this landscape—" his sweeping gesture took in the sunny hills and the gleaming river—"and just as I was getting it my light yellows gave out—that's the main tone—and then I saw your easel and wondered if you, being a painter, too—"

"Of course," she admitted, "light yellows. One couldn't paint without them today. But the oil tubes aren't here yet. If you'll wait—"

She motioned to him to be seated.

"It's wonderful to paint," she said as he complied.

"Isn't it, though? And on a day like this."

She nodded and sniffed the sun-scented air delightedly. "Nature's just baking," she declared, and laughed as she added, "Cooking things always smell good to me."

The artist tapped the ground with his brush. "Nature," he said, "is the one artist who is practical. There are so few like that."

In the valley below was a white church, seeming ridiculously tiny as they looked down from the hill. The wee door swung open and—

"Why, that darling white speck," cried the girl. "It's a bride! And the black speck is the groom, and all the rainbow specks are—"

The artist watched them. "From this distance," he mused, "we can suppose them the ideal couple. Mother Nature is healthy, artistic and practical. We people can all be the first and then we have our choice between the other two."

He had often talked in this strain at the club.

"I hope," he added, "that one of those little specks can dream to some purpose and that the other can—boil eggs. They might use the day moon," he suggested.

"Oh," she remembered, "the day moon! What was that superstition?"

"An old Hindu thing, I think. Your watching it so intently made me recall it. On the noon of the full of the day moon one should pray to it for his heart's desire. But he won't receive it unless it is worthy and fairly practicable. It's best to sleep with a white cat until the new crescent appears, and there ought to be someone else who wants the same thing. They could vow for the practical."

"How keen you are for the practical." She turned to look at him.

"Well, being an artist I've had to cook for myself now and then. It makes a man think. I shall never marry an artist, while you, now, if you were to marry some intensely practical fellow—"

Suddenly he didn't want her to marry any too intensely practical fellow.

"But maybe you're not an awfully good artist," he suggested hopefully.

"I don't wonder our grandmothers laugh at us," she declared, rising briskly. "This way of discussing our most personal affairs in an impersonal way with utter strangers is funny."

He chuckled at her dainty decisiveness, and, rising, too, "Do you know I wish you weren't an artist?"

The girl was shading her eyes and looking off toward the hot, lazy river. A canoe, paddled by a strong, drab clad woman, glided ashore. The girl smiled.

"Ah, there's Annette," she murmured.

"Annette Fraser, the artist," he nodded.

The girl's hazel eyes doubtfully appraised the easel and stool. "I hope these are right."

She turned quizzically toward the artist. "Oh, by the way," she said, and there was amusement in her voice and, yes, apology:

"You see," she waved her hand toward the canoe, "Annette paints," she paused a moment; "I'm a teacher of cooking."

Quite abruptly she sat down among the daisies and lifted her eyes to the day moon.

"No!" he exclaimed, and quite abruptly he sat down on the green besmeared palette, but his eyes—well, he had forgotten the day moon.

ATTENTION CUSTOMERS

We have fully decided that on and after September 1, 1921, we will discontinue making charge tickets, and that after that date all transactions with us will be strictly cash, and all accounts will be closed.

This matter will seem a little harsh to some, but when you consider the fact that all Ford products are spot cash and in fact all accessories and all kindred products are cash and must be paid for on delivery, it is nothing but just that all sales should be cash.

Therefore on September 1, 1921, we shall sell what we do sell for cash, and we assure you that what business you see fit to favor us with will be appreciated, and in return we will give any business entrusted to us, our careful and courteous attention.

Thanking you for past favors, and soliciting your continued patronage, we are,

Yours vrey truly,

Chambers-Hefley Motor Company
